Oh!
don't you worry, you don't have to hear about all of the horrible things that are goingon.
Best if you dont!

so just pop in those headphones, drown the world out, cancel out the noise and listen to those sweet tunes.

Best, you look away aswell.
Glue those eyes to a screen, maybe 2, or 3.
screen maxxxxing to the limit for your entertainment, distractions from anything and also great to fall out of touch with yourself.

Can you even feel any feelings on your own anymore?
And who are you...
without the constant mass distractions? Do you know?

Feeling lonely?
you can always get chatty with chatbot xyz!♥
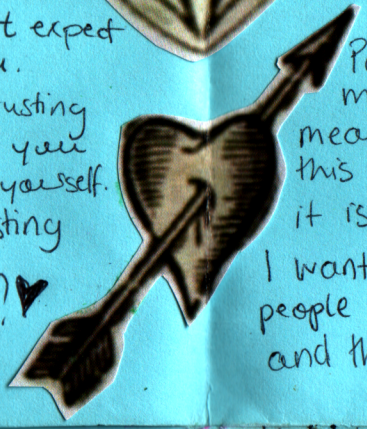
it will agree with everything you say, even if you're dead wrong! And it doesn't expect anything from you.
(except maybe you trusting everything it says so you stop thinking for yourself. which is so exhausting anyways).
isn't that great?♥



In all honestly-
I really have realized, nothing is as important - nothing gives me more satisfaction than human interaction.
Podcasts, videos, social media of all sorts is meant / or trying to replicate this but in the end it is never enough.
I want there to be real people with me -
and then everything is more ok.

MASS DISTRACTION?

ARE YOU EVEN HAPPY ANYMORE

mass distraction